Great Losses Are Caused By Storm

NATION-WIDE DISASTER FROM TORNADOES AND INTENSE COLD WAVE

Nearly a score of deaths, several million dollars property loss and much suffering and inconvenience resulted from the violent change of temperature, the preceding storms and the succeeding cold wave know that the central portion of the country Saturday night and Sunday.

After an unusually warm November day, Saturday, tornadic storms did much damage in Wisconsin and Illinois and killed a dozen persons besides injuring more than a score, several totals.

The cold wave almost immediately rolled over the wreckage of the tornadic and extended in a few hours to the Gulf Coast and the Atlantic seaboard. It has turned to sleep, suspending telegraph and telephone wires and snow followed. The temperature dropped in several places more than 60 degrees in eighteen hours.

Several persons were frozen to death by the sudden cold, slipping on the Great Lakes was damaged and several boats east adrift. In some places gas almost failed. The poor in large cities and the homeless in storm swept regions suffered severely.

The official weather forecast last night was for quick relief from the severe cold in the Middle West, the low temperature moving rapidly eastward and southward. From a point near zero, the thermometer began to rise yesterday with probability of a further rise today in the Central States.

Janesville, Wis., Nov. 12.—Splintered timber, broken furniture, crumpled rock and plaster, scattered farm produce and dead farm animals littering the ground of an area a quarter of a mile in width and twenty miles in length, indicate the tremendous force with which Southern Wisconsin's second cyclone swept a path through Rock county, killing eight in two by a blow. At this same place persons, injuring many more and doing damage to the extent of nearly a million dollars. Of the injured, one, Albert Schmidt, 11 years old, near Hanover, will die. His father and two sisters are dead. At least one more may die.

The Dead

Anton Schmidt, 55 years old, Hanover, blown from barn and instantly killed.

Alice Schmidt, 18 years old, daughter of Anton Schmidt, blown across the road and found nearly buried in a field.

Reggie Schmidt, 14 years old, son of Alice Schmidt, found dead beside his father's body.

Helen Austin, 9 years old, Milton, instantly killed.

Miss Julia Crowder.

Miss Elizabeth Preude.

Lee Lentz, 16 years old, Hanover, blown from barn and instantly killed.

Amy Kordis, 8 years old, instantly killed when her home was demolished.

Wire service was decentralized last night and it was not until today that the details of the catastrophe were obtainable. A steady down pour of rain added to the confusion Saturday night and made identification of the dead difficult. Saturday night the thermometer dropped nearly to zero and it was a fearful night for grief stricken survivors, many left without a roof to cover their heads.

The cyclone originated in the vicinity of Oconomowoc, twelve miles southwest of Janesville, traveled northeast for several miles and then turned to the east. The greatest damage was done near the point of origin and at Milton. It lasted only a few minutes and although it occurred about the middle of the afternoon, it was dark as night. The blinding downpour made search for the dead and dying a terrible task.

There were many freakish incidents connected with the cyclone. At the house of William Little, a six-by-six timber was driven through a wall at the Schmidt farm a box was cut in two by a blow. At this same place

NEARING HIS GOAL ROGERS HAS FALL OF CARNIVAL CROWD

AVIATOR SEVERELY BRUINED AND HIS MACHINE COMPLETELY WRECKED

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 12.—In an attempted flight today from Pasadena to Long Beach, officially to end a series of Mac's Olympic Shows at U. P. Rodgers met with the worst mishap of his career, falling with his machine 125 feet into a ploughed field half-way between the two cities and within sight of his destination.

Although no bones were broken, Rodgers was rendered unconscious.

He was badly shaken up. His face scratched and torn, his hands were burned by his motor and he complained of a pain in his side. His machine was completely wrecked.

He has been hospitalized at the Los Angeles Hospital, his condition improving rapidly.

The machine was completely wrecked.

The carnival company was employing the services of the police to find out the cause of the accident.

Discovered by Chance

This was in an isolated district, and the first learned of the accident, by those interested was when an automobile who had seen Rodgers fall and had dragged him out from under the wings of his biplane, called him to the office of a physician at Compton, two miles away.

Rodgers was still unconscious when Mrs. Rodgers and her mother, Mrs. R. B. Switzer, who had been waiting his arrival at Long Beach, reached Compton. Later he partly regained his senses, but was still too dazed to talk of the accident. He was put aboard the special train his wife and mother had chartered for the run up from Long Beach and taken to his hotel at Pasadena. After an examination tonight, his physicians announced that he would suffer no permanent injury.

While the cause of the accident will not be known until Rodgers explains it, it is believed that a control wire snapped, severing the rudder from his machine and heading the machine downwards at an angle more than 45 degrees. Rodgers complained of engine trouble when he alighted at Covina Junction, but, according to the automobile who saw him fall was flying smoothly at the time of the accident.

EIGHTEENTH MURDER IN YEAR

BIRMINGHAM, Nov. 12.—The eighteenth murder within a little more than eighteen months was committed at Louisville tonight when Constable W. W. Ellard was killed a Negro's drug store and his servant, Hagan, was shot in the thigh.

Ellard was shot three times, dying at once and his gun fell the distance was done by Tom Hagan and Ed Payne. Hagan later appeared at the county jail and gave himself up. These four men appear to have been the only ones in the drug store at the time and just after the shot Hagan and Payne were seen running down the road and the cause of the trouble is not known.

BAD WEATHER FOR HORSES

This cold snap that broke into full yesterday has had another for the horses and the ice has fallen on the head of many of them since. A number of fine ones were brought to Dothan this morning by the farmers and this being probably the best weather we have had yet, many more will likely be seen this week.

A cook store was carried to an adjoining field, where it was deposited right side up, apparently undamaged.

SHERIFF SPOILS FUN OF CARNIVAL CROWD

CARNIVAL COMPANY PLAYED FOR A WEEK WITHOUT LICENSE

Luverne, Ala., Nov. 12.—The carnival company, the city and county officials who were taking in the Mid way of Mac's Olympic Shows at nearly midnight Saturday night, was ruined when Sheriff W. J.

Ellington turned wagons on fifteen members of the carnival company.

The arrests grew out of a conflict between the city and county as to whether or not taxes should be paid.

The carnival company was employ ed by the city and the city was to pay the state and county taxes. It brought to a standstill the entire business of the carnival. To find out its height.

The members of the company set out to vote to trial. The eco nomic judge at first refused this unless the defendant would plead guilty.

Finally, he agreed, however, the first defendant waited a hearing and were held to the grand jury under bonds of $150 each. At that hour new bonds could be made.

Several women were among those arrested. Some of them made bond.

Others remained in the custody of the sheriff. They were to have done the house on the streets of Troy Monday after leaving Luverne Sunday morning, but as it was they were compelled to remain with the others. They will leave this morning, but it will be in a sad and sorry plight.

The high wind of Sunday morning tore some of the tents into shreds.

These were packed on the cars Sunday afternoon however.

They were to be taken to the

MISTAKES IN PRESIDENT TAFT

Within the last two weeks President Taft has made two serious mistakes, which are bound to effect somewhat his chances to be re-elected chief executive of the nation.

In one of his addresses in Massachusetts the president chose to give the national aspect to the contest in that commonwealth for the election of state officers. The Daily News, in commenting on the president's remarks at the time they were made, pointed out that it was at once impudent and dangerous for Mr. Taft thus to thrust national issues into a state campaign. Massachusetts should have been encouraged by the present trend to choose its governor and the members of its legislature on state issues. The time to ask the voters of Massachusetts to pass judgment upon the veto of the wool scheduling bill and other national laws is next year, when a president and members of the national congress are to be elected.

Since the Democrats have now carried Massachusetts, re-electing Frost as governor, President Taft is injuriously affected in a political way, for the reason that he chose to force himself and his policies into the campaign as factors to be considered by the voters. Had he kept off the campaign in Massachusetts during the campaign the election would have promised far less national significance.

President Taft's other mistake was in giving his approval to the Cox ticket for city offices in Cincinnati a few years ago when he was a member of the Roosevelt cabinet. Mr. Taft went to Ohio and made a speech, in which he said that if he were to vote at the election then commanding in Hamilton county and Cincinnati he would not vote the local Republican ticket. Citizens generally believe that the conditions that caused Mr. Taft to make his speech against Cox rule in Cincinnati a few years ago are as much in evidence today as they ever were. Yet Mr. Taft publicly made known his approval of the Cox ticket in Cincinnati during the campaign, and then of the election he voted for the Cox candidate for mayor in preference to a Democratic nominee who had shown signs of fighting abuses of the Cox regime.

The people of Cincinnati should have been free by Mr. Taft to elect their most popular officials on local issues, without being urged by the president of the United States to vote the Cox ticket for the sake of the possible influence of their action upon national politics. In the defeat of the Cox ticket, despite his open support of it the president suffers additional humiliation.—Chicago News.

CHIEF AMBASSADOR

Whitelaw Reid has been ambassador to England so long that many are beginning to believe he has a life tenure on the job like a king, a crossing diagonal or a first sergeant in the army. On the whole our relations with Great Britain have been friendly for a hundred years, almost and barring their active interest in the cotton market during the Civil War. God hasn't been on the job over that long, of course, but while he has been there things have run smoothly. Of course, England and the class opposed Canadian rechristening, which is something else again but as many in this country, Franklin Bristow who really should feel kindly toward a cold country. He deserved it, that doesn't matter much. As well do the Eng. like to hear that we are inclined to believe in and support the measure, although, being two diplomats to say much about it to the reporters.

Conceding then, the greatness of Reid's diplomatic ability, one asks every day, "What will be the re-about for the reason why the English love him so? They do not as a rule warm up much to American men or methods, in fact, they warm up not at all unless in telling of themselves or some other disease from high life or their own great country. But they, being, and it will kill his race out. You warm up Reid so much, lead his nod to reduce the price of your greatness in the public prints, and choose cotton land, with the idea of damage in other ways until one can't help but wonder why. One might think, at first, it is because he is wealthy, for wealth helps in diplomacy as it is played today. But investigation shows that many men of money have flocked when they attempted to break the British ice, which is as impregnable as the well known British square. Nor does the fact that Reid is a cultured gentleman entirely explain.

Reaching deep, we seem to find the answer. In a lot of lavish praise lately printed in a London paper, one learns that Reid wears knickerbockers with more grace than any other American ambassador. Surely that explains a plenty. The court may not cut much ice in British politics, but it is dear to the hearts of Englishmen and the outsider who can wear the court dress as well as one raised to it needs must make a hit which Reid has done. Languages, international law and the art of entertaining may be important in diplomacy, but they are not all. One should cultivate his colors as well as tact and tactfully if he would succeed.—Albion Globe.

WOMEN JURORS FAIL TO AGREE.

As we feared all the time, women are not qualified to sit on the jury. Out in Los Angeles twelve women were sitting on the jury. The case was trying a man for speeding his automobile. That rocked along, as it sometimes does in court, till noon hour. The judge suggested that the jury retire and go to dinner, back of the twelve jurors suggested a different place to touch. Neither would give in. They didn't propose to have the others out talk them, in they stood pat till the judge ordered them back to their work. The court adjourned, cleared dinner, and what was worse, after they had deliberated five hours more, they were discharged, for they were unable to arrive at some understanding about the case.

You but twelve women out with the duty of selecting a hat for the thirteenth one, and they would have a hard time arriving at a decision, so what could you expect on a jury?

Blind us to the offenses of our beloved, cleanse them from our memories, take the most of our mouths forever. Let all here before thee carry and measure the false balances of love, and be in their own eyes and in all conjunctions the most guilty. Help us at the same time with the grace of courage, that we may none of us be cast down when we sit lamenting amid the ruins of our happiness or our integrity, touch us with the fire from the altar, that we may be up and doing to rebuild our city.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Nearly every day some fellow drives an automobile on the streets of Dothan too fast for safety. The driver doesn't consider it fast, he is used to it probably, but he is going too fast to stop in case some unthoughtful child were to dash in front, as this often do. You hit a car full room child in the streets of Dothan, as a result of reckless driving, as was done in Camilla the other day, and we would hate to say what would be the result.

Without free speech no search for truth is possible, without free speech no discovery of truth is useful, without free speech's progress is checked and the nations no longer march forward toward the nobler life which the future holds for man. Better a thousandfold abuse of free speech than the denial of free speech. The abuse often is a day, but the denial days the life of the people and it robs the hope of the race.—Charles L. Collyer.

A lot of Alabama counties are breaking the record in announcing early that frost has been very modest about it. There are even people wanting to say that they don't want to stop in the middle of the early January they are so cold. Every other state is getting a lot of frost except for frost in the fall and then mostly. It's a reason for a寒流 to be the low. It's all

The question is asked nearly usually one who has an interest every day. What will be the result when the ball will hit this section of Alabama?" If he doesn't year we fear he will take the your or some other disease from high life or their own great country. But they, being, and it will kill his race out. You warm up Reid so much, lead his nod to reduce the price of your greatness in the public prints, and choose cotton land, with the idea of damage in other ways until one can't help but wonder why. One might think, at first, it is because he is wealthy, for wealth helps in diplomacy as it is played today. But investigation shows that many men of money have flocked when they attempted to break the British ice, which is as impregnable as the well known British square. Nor does the fact that Reid is a cultured gentleman entirely explain.

There has been a general idea all the time that it was right to turn to the right when meeting one, but at no time is it of more importance to observe it than now when the country roads are so full of automobilists. When you are in town, crowded with people like the streets of Dothan are, you will have to turn to the right or block travel. Every day is a crowded day in Dothan.

Chicago is rejoicing that the Lord iner case is to be transferred from that city to Washington, on the 21st of this month. Chicago had begun to think that Lorimer and his investigation were an institution and we are glad that the muddy business is transferred to the pest house, so to speak.

This is the season of the year when you want to urge your friends and acquaintances to come to Houston county a visiting. If they don't find something down here better than what they left at home, then we will devise some scheme to refund railroad fare.

The man of business, chancing upon some verse, has his moment of illumination and regret and abhors the book, laughing it away. The poet brought to him the sense of the mystic word, the poet of all men has the power of passing it on.—W. E. Rundell.

To be poor in a wealthy country, to be sick in a good climate, to be unfamiliar among progressive people, is a sign of unwise educational methods. Such people are not taught to battle with the world or meet life's emergencies.—Thoreau.

If this probe business keeps up among public officials there will come a time when the people will probe them first, and dislodge them thoroughly before electing them to office, and that will be a glorious time with us all.

Mr. Hearst has his cartoonist to picture Murphy as a tramp out in the cold world with nothing to do. Murphy was only partially ousted, and if he isn't watched closely he will be running New York again.

A headline says President Taft seems tired. If there is anything in much travel and speech making to tire one, he and Gov. O'Neal both should get off in a quiet place and rest up two or three months.

The latter part of this month the speed mania will break out again in Savannah, and a lot of automobilia will be turned over, and a few people killed trying to break former records.

If we don't need but thirteen million bales of cotton and we have made two million more than we need then the farmers should hold that surplus and not the speculators.

No one has claimed thus far that Dr. Gates is loathing on the job of jail inspector for Alabama. If ever a man did work to earn his salary, that man has done it.

Now York city is of course our largest city, but that's no excuse for killing 89 people this year, andounding over 650. The year is not all in yet, either.

Mr. Cook threatens to buy a farm and live on it. Some feel that there is a lot of unfair go round in the gold countries where it is so well known.

All roads lead to Birmingham and the wires also. The wires and the road will be crossed tomorrow to hear something of the fallen man in.

When a man in Tennessee was acquitted for killing another, the killer of the dead man got up in court and shot the acquitted man. Whenever an aspersion runs over and kill some one, that person is to be held in the public's judgment.

Washington city is having trouble in getting pure milk, as it does in getting pure politicians.

Taft is resembling O'Neal in some respects for he is making a record of pardoning people.

Carnegie has given away more money than most of us can think about.

Many a man who sought to drown his troubles had to be bailed out himself.

When you checked up your job, did you ever notice how well the work seemed to go on without you?

The reporter in an election doesn't deserve much more punishment than the man who tells part of his story three or four times and forgets the best part of it.

Women on the Stage.
The earliest mention of actresses was in 1811 when Corriat in his "Creditor" gave this description of a production at the Theater of Venice Italy: "I saw women act, a thing I never saw before. They performed with as much grace, action, gesture as ever I saw any masculine actor."

A Theory and a Fact.
The late Senator Frye attributed his robust health to correct habits and fondness for sport and the world out doors. Two months each year he enjoyed at his camp by the Mississippi lakes the keen delights of the red stag gun. If there was one achievement of his life of which he was inclined to boast it was that of having caught the largest squirrel killed over ever taken with a gun. "Not some time ago at a dinner this boast was challenged by no less an authority than Professor Agassiz. At great naturalists asserted that the Maine squirrel was in error for it was a schism, fact that no true squirrel ever attained the weight mentioned—seven pounds. The following season the senator was fortunate enough to catch an eight pound specimen of the same species which he packed in ice and sent to Professor Agassiz. The professor acknowledged his defeat in the following facula line:

"The theory of a lifetime kicked to death by a fact." That commented Senator Frye, "Is the only case I have ever heard of in which a theorist ever paid the eight-dollar bill to a squirrel for a hit at a squirrel."

Uneeda Biscuit never disappoint!

You have never heard anyone say—
“The Uneeda Biscuit in that last package were not as good as usual.”

You have never said it yourself.

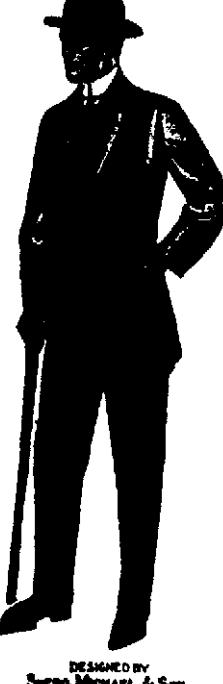

It is one thing to make soda crackers that are occasionally good.

It is quite another thing to make them so that they are not only always better than all other soda crackers, but always of unvarying goodness.

The name “Uneeda”—stamped on every one of them—means that if a million packages of Uneeda Biscuit were placed before you, you could choose any one of them, confident that every soda cracker in that package would be as good as the best Uneeda Biscuit ever baked.

French Schoolboy Knowledge.
It does not seem to be a difficult matter for the pupils of primary schools to obtain certificates, if one may judge from some specimens of their answers to examinations published by the Paris Journal. Here is a sample, among others, of a written answer to the question: "Which period of French history do you prefer, and why?"

"The period of the history of France that I prefer is the war of 1870. I am sure told to Napoleon III, 'Ex-Emperor.' You says the other, 'I have not a brother but the war of 1870.' Then Napoleon III, told McMahon to come. But McMahon, who was on the river of Meuse, replies, 'I'm sorry, I've lost it. I did not war because it is a large island.'

As the Paris Journal remarks, it is hard to think these lads, who are on the point of becoming apprentices, will probably never open a book again and in ten years will be electors. Parton, London Telegraph.

The Coop de Monseur.

The history of the sword strike the Parisian fencers call the "coop de Monseur" is roughly: The hero of the story was a young Parisian fencer engaged to be married to a young lady of Bardenet. Quarreling with a cousin of his fiancee, he got his ears boxed at the Bardenet club (fencers' fencing), he dared not reveal the insult and remained his engagement. But he also took fencing lessons from one Monseur, a native of Toulouse. Monseur taught him one trick only, and he practiced it for a year. At the end of that time he returned to the Bardenet club, slapped his mate's face and, being challenged, instantly ran his opponent through the body with his fencing lungs.

Cricket We Have Had.

In several countries that I have visited I have had the opportunity to observe it. The United States has had their capitol at New York, Philadelphia and Washington. In the period preceding the adoption of the constitution, no place was really constituted a capital. In a less formal manner, since it is possible to describe as a capital any city which was the seat of government.

Taking the sessions of the Continental congress as establishing a seat of government in the Revolution and the confederation, the following cities may loosely rank as capitals: Philadelphia, Baltimore, Lancaster, York, Princeton, Annapolis, Trenton and New York. The articles of confederation were passed by congress in Philadelphia, and the federal convention charged to propose a constitution convened at the same place.

BOWMAN TALK DRAWS

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 12--It everybody attends the Jefferson theatre Tuesday night who says they intend going, the address of Colonel P. G. Bowman, who was recently deposed by the governor as tax commissioner of Jefferson county, will attract an audience larger than any that attended a theatrical performance in Birmingham this season, save perhaps Anna Held, on which occasion standing room over was at a premium. The announcement by Mr. Bowman that he would deliver an address on "Governor D'Neal, Who He Is and What He Is," has caused much gossip right from the start, and while there is a difference of opinion as to what Mr. Bowman is going to say from the stage, the consensus is that those who hear the address will know that Colonel Bowman is angry and that he is greatly perturbed.

That Mr. Bowman is going to use some harsh language in speaking of the governor is also believed but that he will be careful in speaking of others is also believed. Stenographers will be on hand to take down Colonel Bowman's address. The prohibitionists are interested in the probability of the address of Mr. Bowman. It is believed by them that there will be campaign material aplenty for them when their bolt is again on as it is expected that Mr. Bowman will put of campaign of the past and the campaign funds. The latter subject is one in which the prohibitionists are interested in to a high extent.

Mr. Bowman stated that he is not authorized to say for him what he is or what he is not going to say in his address, but he intimates that he is going to tell the people of Alabama something in which they will be interested and that there will be some information given that will cause comment.
